

WOMEN DEMAND ANOTHER TEACHER IN SCHOOL NO. 7

Say Classes Are Too Large and Teachers Get Discouraged—
Mr. Gill's Advice Not Concurred in—Hospitals to Have
Use of High School For Evening Classes—Registration Larger Than Last Year.

A regular meeting of the board of education was held Friday evening at the rooms of the board in the high school, all members of the board being present except D. G. Atkins, who is ill at the home of his brother at Long Beach, N. J.

Before the regular business was taken up a delegation of women members of the Parent-Teachers' Association of School No. 7, was heard. Mrs. H. P. Van Wageningen acted as spokesman for the six women present, reading a paper which had been prepared.

The Parent-Teachers' Association of School No. 7, believing that the conditions at that school are too crowded to permit good work on the part of the teachers appeared before the board and asked that something be done to relieve the condition. They asked that an additional teacher be employed or that some other means be taken to relieve the condition. Mrs. Van Wageningen stated that under the present conditions the children cannot be given individual attention and cannot make satisfactory progress. The board, she thought, was paying too much attention to the upkeep of the high school and in their endeavor to make this a model school they were overlooking and neglecting the grammar schools, where all pupils must make their start in life. In their zeal to keep the high school in the first rank they were allowing the grammar schools to fall behind.

Mrs. Van Wageningen said that the condition at School No. 7 was so bad that the teachers were unable to properly care for the students, and finding that they could not give them the attention necessary and seeing them fall behind, the teachers being overworked, became tired and would eventually lose interest. She gave figures in regard to the attendance in each of the rooms at School No. 7, and the average number of pupils being taught by each teacher. In rooms 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 there were numerous backward pupils who were not receiving the attention necessary owing to the crowded conditions. As a suggestion, Mrs. Van Wageningen asked that the board assign another teacher to the school, temporarily, from another school where there were fewer pupils and more teachers. At School No. 7, with a registration of 474 pupils, there are but 11 teachers. No. 5, with a registration of 418, there are 13 teachers.

"I often wish that my little boy might attend No. 5 School," said Mrs. Van Wageningen. At the conclusion of Mrs. Van Wageningen's talk she suggested that the board take some action immediately. After a brief silence a further suggestion was made that the board ask any question of the women which it desired. Trustee Gill asked what was considered a fair number of pupils for one teacher.

Mrs. Van Wageningen stated that she had been a teacher and that 35 was about all one teacher could give proper attention, at No. 7 the average is 42.

A suggestion from a member of the board that in many places the average was much larger than 35, met with a strong protest from the women who pointed out that Poughkeepsie, already building additional schools, has a smaller average.

President Flemming stated that last year when he and the superintendent visited Poughkeepsie their average was considerably more than 35, but as to this year he did not know.

When the board stated that they were doing the best they could under the present school system, the women suggested that the system be improved as there was no better place to extend the taxpayer's money than on good schools.

At this point Trustee Van Wageningen suggested that the paper read by Mrs. Van Wageningen be secured if possible and presented to the English teachers in the schools as a model of good English, as he considered it perfect.

Mrs. Van Wageningen promptly informed Mr. Van Wageningen that, "this may be true, but that is not the question before the board."

Trustee Gill suggested that as the Parent-Teachers' Association was so deeply interested in the work of the schools some of the members who had nothing else to do, might go in and help the teachers at School No. 7. The suggestion did not meet with the approval of the women who demanded to know if Mr. Gill had any children attending school, and when informed that he had none one of the delegation suggested that perhaps if he had children attending school he might take more of an interest in the school conditions.

In School No. 7, there is a room which is used for two periods of the day and the women suggested that another teacher be secured and the backward pupils be given additional instruction.

After an informal discussion on motion of Trustee Gill, the matter was referred to the teachers' committee and the superintendent to investigate. The motion was seconded by Trustee Van Wageningen, and carried.

The women asked that they be informed immediately of any action taken by the board.

On regard to the backward pupils, the board has had this matter under consideration for some time and are seeking a remedy.

The board then took up the regular work. A communication was read from Dr. Norwood of the Kingston City Hospital and from Dean Hickey, president of the board of directors of the Beneficent Hospital, asking permission of the board for the senior nurses of the hospitals to use the high school two evenings each week for the purpose of instruction in dietetics. The state requires that nurses be given instruction by a competent teacher and Miss Davis has been secured to instruct the girls. The hospitals offered to pay the estimated cost of lighting and gas used in the kitchen and as the work is of an educational nature the board unanimously consented.

There are 280 more pupils registered this year in the public schools of the city than there was at this time last year. The high school on September 23, 1920, had a registration of 470 while the registration on the same date this year was 793, an increase of over 100. At No. 6, there is a slight decrease this year, as shown by Superintendent Michael's report which was submitted to the board of education Friday night at the regular meeting of the board. The report follows:

The schools opened according to schedule on September 6 with a first day registration considerably larger than that of any previous year. The following tabulation shows the registration at the end of the month of September for the current school year and for the last school year.

SUTLIFF TAKES IN POUGHKEEPSIE

Local Packard Dealer Buys Poughkeepsie Branch From Packard Co. of New York and Now Controls Dutchess County Sales—Will Carry Out Kingston Plans.

Sutliff, Inc., temporarily doing business at No. 327 Broadway, this city, where a Packard salesroom and service station is being maintained until the new building at the head of Broadway is completed, has taken over the Packard salesroom and service station in Poughkeepsie. The Poughkeepsie salesroom and service station has been operated by the Packard Motor Car Co. of New York city, as a branch, in charge of a manager, but will hereafter be owned and operated by Sutliff, Inc., with a competent manager in charge. All of the equipment, office furniture, etc., has been sold to Sutliff, Inc., which concern has also taken over the lease of the building. The Poughkeepsie office will add Dutchess county to the territory of Sutliff, Inc.

The new venture will in no way interfere with the plans of Sutliff, Inc., for business extension in Kingston and work on plans for the new service station and salesrooms on the old Colonial hotel site at the corner of Broadway and Maiden Lane is being rushed with such vigor that it is expected to break ground for the new building on or before November 1 and have it completed before next spring.

The Poughkeepsie establishment will not be a branch of the Kingston business; neither will the Kingston business be a branch of that in Poughkeepsie. Both will be under the same ownership and general management. Mr. Sutliff will continue to reside in Kingston and be in personal charge of the Kingston business.

Sutliff, Inc., has been dealing in Packard cars in Kingston only since July 18 but in that time has sold 17 cars and two trucks. One truck, with moving van body, was sold this week to Fred W. Phillips, the truckman at No. 8 Downs street, one of whose moving vans was destroyed by fire a few days ago.

MANY VISITORS AT C. OF C. LUNCHEON

Great interest is being shown in Kingston in regard to the luncheon of the Hudson Valley Federated Chamber of Commerce as guests of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce on Thursday, October 6th, 12:30 in the Y. M. C. A. building.

Many Kingstonians are planning to take the advantage of this opportunity to participate in a gathering of representatives of the entire Hudson Valley.

Some indications of the interest which other cities in the valley are showing in the Kingston meeting of the Federation appears in reservations by the Newburgh Chamber of Commerce of fifteen plates for the luncheon.

Albany, Poughkeepsie, Middletown, Peekskill and Saugerties are among the other places in the valley which have reported prospects for a large delegation.

Kingston reservations from men and women are beginning to come in rapidly including a block from Kiwanis Club which has consolidated its regular weekly luncheon with the Federation luncheon.

Plates are $1.50 each. Kingstonians are urged to make reservations now at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, phone 504, or secure tickets from the ticket committee so that all may be accommodated.

A very large attendance of delegates and of local people is also anticipated at the business session of the Federation which will be held in the Elk's Club immediately after the luncheon in the Y. M. C. A. building.

SPRINKLER SYSTEM
Being Installed by Hanson Company in Shirt Factory.

The Fessenden Shirt Co. is having an up-to-date sprinkler system installed in their large four story factory building on Field Court with a main 4 inch cast iron water service from the main in street. The fourth floor is also being heated and a new section added to the heating boiler. When the work is completed the Fessenden Co. will have one of the most modern factory buildings in the city. This company has recently expanded within the past two years from one floor in the incubator plant to their present location. The work is being installed by the L. F. Hanson Plumbing, Heating and Contracting Co. of this city.

Business Certificate Filed.
A certificate under the business law has been filed with the clerk by Solomon Gutin, Herman Levine and Solomon Gruss, all of Ellenville, that they are conducting a wholesale and retail business in the line of buying and selling lumber and building materials.

One Frank Arrested.
Jack O'Connor was arrested at Main street and Washington street at 10:30 o'clock, Friday evening by Officer's Shaw Wood and Kevin on a charge of public intoxication. He will be arraigned later in police court.

$50 REWARD FOR STOLEN DOGS

It is not often that a burglar steals a dog, but that is just what some burglar or burglars did at the residence of Cornelius I. Lefever, in Bloomington, on Wednesday night when two foxhounds were stolen from Mr. Lefever's barn. The dogs were valuable and Mr. Lefever offers a reward of $50 for any information that will lead to their recovery. One of the dogs, five years old, answers to the name of Frank and is white, black and dark tan; head, light tan, black down back and around tail, which is white, white legs; scar on right rear foot, on toe; coal tan back of head and neck. The other dog is five months old; head black and tan; white strip from eye to nose; black spots around tail.

NEW ORGANIST AT REDEEMER CHURCH

Professor Richens, Widely Known Musician With Extensive Experience Here and Abroad, Will Play at Morning Service Sunday.

In securing the services of Prof. Frederick D. Richens, who will preside at the organ at their morning and evening services on Sunday, the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer at Wurts and Rogers streets, has equipped itself for the continuance of its high standard of churchly music and has added to Kingston's musical circles another artist of fine musical training and ability.

Professor Richens began his musical career as choir boy and soloist in the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Hallowes, London, and later became its choirmaster and assistant organist. Studying singing under Birch, of the Guildhall School of Music, London, organ under Prof. Gilbert Thompson of the Royal College of Organists, and piano under Richard Bain, of the London College of Music, he attained a high order of culture and efficiency to which his previous positions in American cities and the favorable press notices of his many-sided musical activity gave ample testimony. Prof. Richens for a number of years was organist and choirmaster in St. John's Episcopal Church, Hagerstown, Md., and professor at the pipe organ at Kee Mar College in the same city. He was organist and choirmaster in St. Paul's Episcopal Church at Lock Haven, Pa. He has played opening recitals for a number of the foremost organ-builders of the United States, conducted oratorio concerts in the several communities where he has previously been located and successfully prepared a number of students in voice culture, piano and pipe organ.

In connection with his work as organist at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Prof. Richens will give lessons in voice, organ and piano. Though a native of England, he is both in spirit and by naturalization an American. The rich heritage of the musical art in both sacred and secular expressions that is his by birth and training, an ample experience in several fields where he has exercised his highly developed talents and a pleasing and refined personality is promising both to the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer and the city of Kingston of a valuable musical acquisition.

At the morning service the Holy Communion will be celebrated. The subject of the sermon will be "The Power to Forgive." At the vesper service the sermon will be on "The House of God." The music for the day with Prof. Richens at the organ will be:

Offertoire.....King Hall
Nocturne.....Chopin
Postlude March.....Rev. T. Cusler
Alleluia.....Wendell Phillips
Benediction.....Lemare
Psalms' Chorus.....Wagner
Jesus Word of God Incarnate.....

A WOUND HEALED
Is Subject of Dr. Landreth's Address October 8.

William Jennings Bryan in his address at Central Park, New York city, on Saturday afternoon, July 3, said that "there cannot be Christianity without endeavor and no endeavor worth while without Christianity back of it, and I am glad to suggest that you Endeavorers here stand ready to give Christianity a most effective boost by the slogan of the C. E. Society, 'The Unconquered by Action'."

Dr. Ira Landreth of New York, Tenn., a celebrated speaker, will be present at a meeting of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church under the direction of the Christian Endeavor Union. The address will be on the coming conference to be held in Washington, D. C. relative to world peace. All are invited.

Farm and Home Days.
Annual farm and home days at Delhi State school will occur Thursday and Friday, November 3 and 4. Good speakers will be provided throughout the session. Prof. Hopper of the State College of Agriculture, will be one of the speakers. It is proposed to have a general conference to be held on the farm and home days at the domestic science building Thursday evening, November 3.

Costs of Appeals.
The court of appeals will receive on 23rd instant for the first session after the summer recess at 2 o'clock, Monday, and will begin hearing appeals on cases on the order of the court of appeals on 24th instant.

State and Federal Governments Pay Two-Thirds of Teachers' Salaries—General Committee Gets Down to Work—How Information Will Be Obtained.

The general committee that is co-operating in the vocational education survey of the city which is being conducted by the state met Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley presided and there was discussion and planning that lasted until after 10 o'clock.

Facts made clear were that the survey is an investigation to determine conditions and needs, and is not an attempt to foist on the city the ready-made program of some faust. The survey is intended to ascertain whether an extension of vocational training is worth while, what it will cost, what vocations should be covered and whether the people will support it. Approximately the state and federal governments will pay two-thirds of the salaries of the teachers. Experience has shown that three-fourths of those who take a vocational training course follow the vocation they have studied.

TRADE TEACHING NOT SO COSTLY

Vocational training will not be instituted except along lines for which there is local need and demand. Pupils will not be taught how to make pianos if there is no piano factory in the city and there must be a reasonable outlet for the trained labor in the locality before any line of training will be sanctioned.

The state representatives will distribute blanks to employers which will, if carefully filled out, supply the information for determining the needs of the city. This information will be checked up by committees representing various trades and callings and the relative importance of the various lines of study determined.

Committees composed of employers and employees in various lines will be announced later and a general meeting of all these committees, with the general committee and the state representatives will be held in the common council chamber next Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

ANOTHER HERO'S BODY ON WAY HOME

PRIVATE JOSEPH W. VOLK.

Mrs. Joseph Volk of No. 495 Delaware avenue received word this morning that the body of her son, Private Joseph W. Volk, would arrive in Hoboken on Thursday, October 6.

Private Volk was a member of Company B 312th Infantry, and for extraordinary heroism in action near Grandville, France, October 22, 1918, was awarded the distinguished service cross. While engaged as runner, Private Volk carried messages to and from advanced positions and, although wounded, continued through the whole afternoon before he would be discharged. Even then he volunteered to carry an important message to the front lines.

When he was discharged, his company commander, a number of wounded men and an entire battery, in one of his 24th and 25th tour times, showed during the entire operation of the battle that he was a man of great courage and determination.

Private Volk left Kingston on April 1, 1918, with a contingent of drafted men for Camp Dix, and was overseas in June with the 34th Division.

He died November 25 of pneumonia.

Two Residences Sold.
Elmendorf and Downs Street Residences Change Hands.

Harold V. Sharot of 86 Elmendorf street has sold his residence there, a two-family house, to Anna Dorothy Weirbach of Poughkeepsie.

Howard Simmons and Sherman Low have sold their residence at 154 Duane street to Burton A. Turk, who recently sold the large store at the city hall. The sales were made through W. Arthur Farrar, real estate broker at 42 Duane street.

Shell Thieves Detected.
John Taylor, charged with three-fifths of a barrel of shell, was taken into custody at Arthur Hornbeck, Hornbeck, in the hands, was taken before Justice Childers, Friday morning and after a remand was discharged by the court.

WIND AND ELECTRIC STORM SWEEPS VALLEY OF THE RONDOUT

Many Trees Down and Electric Current Interrupted in the City—Storm Area Limited to West Side of Shawangunks—Freeman Office Resorts to Old-Time Methods to Overcome Difficulties.

The wind and rainstorm which passed over Ulster county on Friday afternoon was part of a general storm which raged throughout the eastern states and as far west as Pittsburgh, Pa., where considerable damage resulted. The storm passed over Staten Island and New York city early Friday morning and was accompanied by a heavy electrical display.

The wind gained almost the proportions of a hurricane in various parts of Ulster county. Everywhere limbs of trees were broken off by the force of the wind and in many places trees were blown over. Through the valley of the Esopus and the Rondout, between Kingston and Ellenville, the wind storm was particularly severe and was preceded by a rain-and-wind storm of great severity which lasted from five to ten minutes. A large tree on the highway leading from the state road to the Kyserike station of the New York Ontario & Western railroad, was blown down and had to be cut away for traffic to continue. At Stone Ridge a tree was blown across the highway and one of the electric light wire was loosened from a pole some distance beyond. The current was off for 20 minutes at The Freeman office during the most critical hour of the day, just as the last news was being set. By leaving out late news and resorting to antiquated methods of stereotyping, the paper appeared on time, as the current was restored in time to operate indispensable machinery.

In Kingston, several large limbs and innumerable small branches were blown down from trees. A tree at the corner of Fair and St. James streets was blown down, breaking a number of wires. A large branch struck the hood and fender of the automobile of Chauncey Malnes of No. 47 Clinton avenue who was passing. The Kingston city trolley line was broken and traffic was held up for half an hour.

A tree also was blown down in front of the residence of Elva H. Bogart at No. 134 Fair street, and a large limb from a tree on Clinton avenue near Maiden Lane was broken off by the wind and crashed into the yard of Dr. F. S. Betts, breaking a section of the iron fence. Trees along Linderman avenue and Washington avenue also suffered from the storm.

The flag pole in the Senate House park on Clinton avenue was also blown down, breaking off a short distance above the ground. Some time ago a large tree fell on the Senate House yard was blown down during a wind storm, and at least two other trees are considered unsafe.

While great quantities of rain fell on the west side of the Shawangunks, there was but little rain on the east slope, and at Rosendale there was no rain.

The wind which continued after the rain had ceased falling dried the roads quickly and half an hour after the storm the Ellenville-Kingston state road was as dry as it was before the storm.

Bridge Workers Hang On.
For the first time since the Rondout creek bridge has been under construction the bridge workers were forced to cling for their lives to the structure to avoid being blown from the bridge during the wind storm. As it was, the wind blew one of the planks loose from the front bridge and it fell narrowly missing three of the bridge workers.

Telephone System Hit.
The storm did considerable damage to the lines of the New York Telephone Company placing fifty lines and 150 telephones out of commission. A large tree fell on a cable putting fifteen phones out of commission and at Hawthorne avenue and East Chester street a tree fell causing considerable damage to the wires.

Hay Breaks Man's Leg.
Jabe Olmsted, a farm hand employed on the farm of David Stead of Acta, is in Kingston Hospital with a broken leg as the result of a load of hay slipping from a wagon on the farm yesterday. The hay in some manner left the wagon and in striking Mr. Olmsted, knocked him to the ground. His right leg was crushed in the crash and a fracture was seen. Mr. Olmsted's leg was set in a splint and had him returned to the city.

Rescue Triduum at Withers.
The annual rescue triduum will be opened at the Church of the Holy Name, Withers, on Sunday evening at 7:30, to be continued Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at the same hour. The most of Mass at Withers will be at 6 o'clock. Kidnappers will leave Ellenville at 7:15 a.m. tomorrow, returning from Withers at 1 o'clock. The triduum will be closed by one of the Redemptorist Missionary Fathers.

Presbyterian Talkers.
The Rondout Presbyterian Church school will hold their annual conference this Sunday, at 12 o'clock. A large number of people are expected to be present.

Carroll's Hip Broken.
C. B. Carroll of No. 79 Adams street, is confined to the Kingston City Hospital with a broken hip sustained when he fell from a tree while picking peaches several days ago. His condition is said to be serious.

Three Dances at Club Hall.
The "Three Dances" will be held at the Club Hall on Saturday, Sunday and Monday evenings at 8 o'clock. A large number of people are expected to be present.

FRENCH ORPHAN SEEKING WORK

Former Mascot of the 26th Division, Later Served in the American Army of Occupation, and is Now in Kingston Seeking to Earn a Living.

Victor Legay, who is residing at No. 60 Cedar street, and whose marriage to a Kingston young lady was recently announced in The Freeman, is a young man with a history. A native of France, his parents were killed during the early part of the German invasion. He was adopted by the Twenty-sixth Division, A. E. F., as the division mascot and was with the fighting Yankees until Armistice Day ended the war. He came to America with the 26th Division and enlisted in the United States army, seeing service with the Army of Occupation in Germany for two years. He was discharged some time ago and came to America to reside. When he first went with the 26th Division Legay spoke no English. He now speaks the language well, although with a strong French accent, and is able to read and write English.

He is seeking work, and would prefer work on a farm to anything else, but is willing to try anything honest that promises a living wage. He may be found at No. 60 Cedar street; telephone call, 1692-J.

Features

Simplicity and strength of construction. Accessibility of all parts to minimize maintenance cost.

Rigidity of chassis frame—the foundation of the car—accomplished by the use of the "tubular backbone" (patent applied for), which prevents distortion of frame and eliminates all racking and squeaking of body.

Motor designed by Durant engineers, valve-in-head type, powerful and flexible, embodying features not usually found in engines of the combustion type. No piping or attachments in the underpan. Pistons can be taken out through lower part of cylinder block, making it unnecessary to remove head casting.

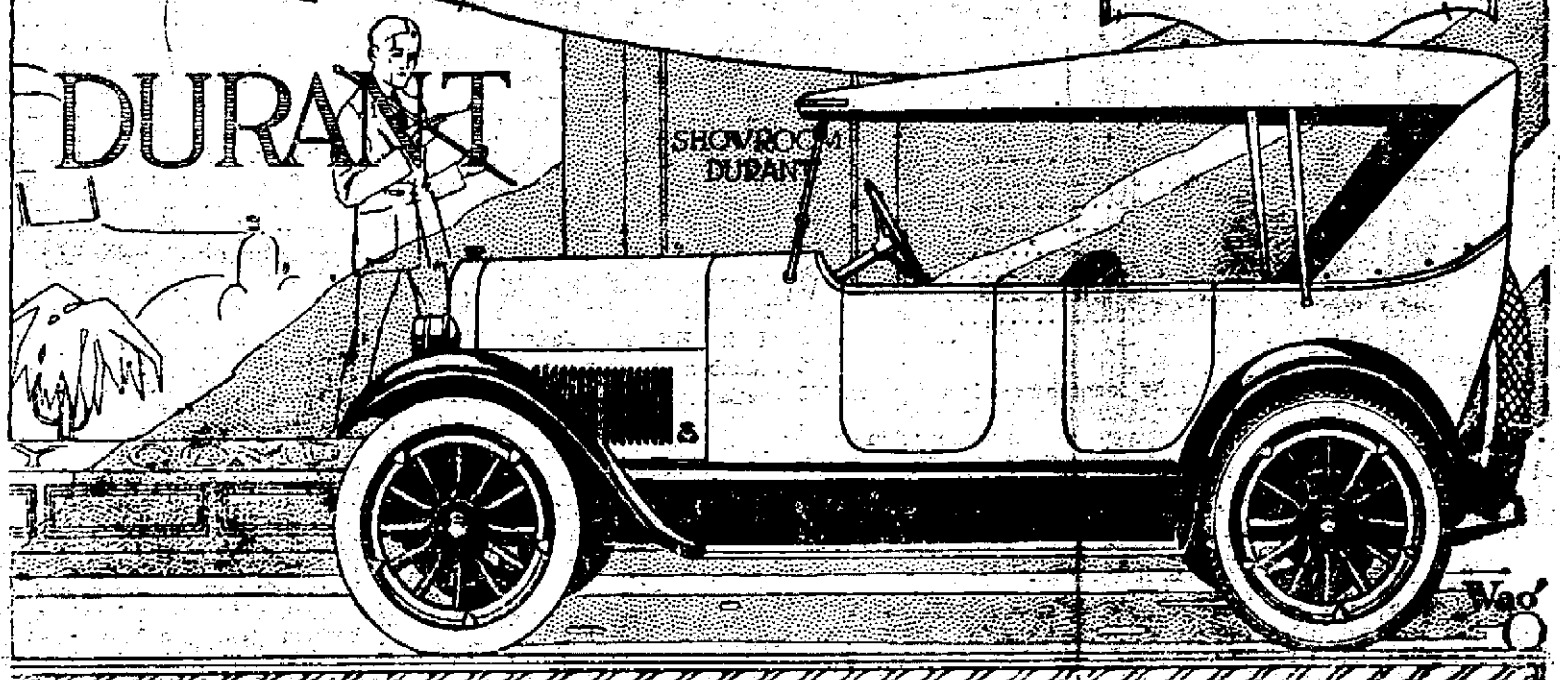

Single plate clutch closed in and forming part of flywheel. Removable by detaching four bolts without disturbing the power plant.

Special designed floating axle with removable shafts. Timken bearings. Chrome nickel ring gear and pinion adjustable to wear.

Americ system of lubrication. Steering gear with controls on top of wheel. Genuine leather upholstery over curled hair. Wheelbase, 89 inches.

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM

Being a Story
Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

During his last day at the canoe house, Jim got an idea for his next job from the Italian who hung around the place with his string of balloons and row of pinwheels. "Lots of money selling these," he informed Jim, elucidating on his method of blowing up the skins and tying them to sticks. Jim wondered why he couldn't follow the fellow's example, but he couldn't quite picture himself peddling the toys around town.

"I have it!" he exclaimed to his in-laws in the morning. "I'll make up like an Italian and try my luck for two days." The idea of masquerading as an Italian amused him, and he could hardly wait for morning to put his plans into action. By nine, he was ready to start on his adventure, garishly skinned, red handkerchief tucked around his neck, flat boots, and a handful of tossing balloons over his shoulder.

The children were at once attracted to him like ants to sugar. He was surrounded by little tots wherever he went; and the balloons and windmills sold with fair success. One tiny, golden haired child had followed him for quite a distance, when he realized that she had been with him all together too long.

"Se here, kiddie," he said, "aren't you a long way from home?"

"Me like balloons," returned the child.

"You'd better hustle back, your ma will be looking for you."

"Me like balloons."

Seeing that the child intended to stay with him, or rather with the balloons, he thrust one into her eager hand, and bade her goodbye.

"The show Billy," came instead of a "Thank you" as she fled down the street with the soaring toy.

Jim had canvassed the streets of the district, when, towards night, he felt the heavy hand of the law on his shoulder.

"What have you done with the child?" asked the stern-faced officer.

"Hand her over."

"What child? I haven't any child with me."

The policeman stared at Jim in amazement, for the youth, in his surprise, had dropped his assumed disguise.

last and had spoken naturally. Suspecting deceit, the officer drew his handkerchief roughly across Jim's face, and held up the cloth soiled with paint and powder.

"What are you, anyway? You'd better come along with me to the station."

"Wait a bit," demurred Jim. "I can explain in two words. I've got a permit to sell these balloons, but how would I look, with my American face peddling them? I'd be the centre of ridicule everywhere I went. As for the child, go into detail, wait child, where, and when?"

"She has been missing all day. The last seen of her was in your train as you passed down Elm street. Her mother is frantic, and vows that you kidnapped her."

"Got golden hair, and talks baby fashion?"

"That's her."

Jim thought of the little tot who had persisted in following him. Where could she have disappeared to? Suddenly he remembered her remark, "Me show Billy."

The crowd was rapidly gathering, and a weeping woman was approaching, crying hysterically, as she drew nearer. "He is the man. I swear it. He has my little Daisy."

"Who is Billy?" asked Jim abruptly.

"Billy, to whom Daisy might go."

"Why, no, there's no Billy. But yes, there is. There's Grandma's dog. Billy. He's kept out in the shed. Daisy often goes there. I never thought," she returned without completing her remark, and sped rapidly down the street.

"I guess that lets me out," said Jim, grinning at the officer. "So long."

NOW UP TO JUDGES

To Improve Court Procedure Under New Practice Acts.

In an editorial reviewing the summary by Judge Clearwater of the new civil practice act, with the revised rules of civil practice in the courts of New York state, which went into effect today, which summary was printed in The Freeman Friday evening, the Albany Knickerbocker Press says:

"So the expected improvement is, after all, to be derived from the attitude of the judges, rather than from the code. It may be that it will be necessary to obtain a new generation of judges before all the fuss and feathers, redundancy and abracadabra of the old code can be banished. It was, to speak of it as kindly as possible, a mumbled, jumbled sort of nightmare, in which one might wander for many months without catching so much as a glimpse of sunlight. An intelligent judge could be of great assistance, but the hands of even the best were often tied. What Roscoe Conkling's judicial protegee did to the noble structure erected by David Dudley Field is what the really able members of the bar have been trying for fifty years to get rid of. Now they have made a start at it. The law is sometimes an ass, but not forever."

The Swallow Dive.

Some boys were being given instruction in diving. The particular lesson was on the swallow dive. "Now, Jenkins," said the instructor to the most backward pupil, "you take a turn." Jenkins made a hopeless attempt and created an alarming splash. "That's not a swallow dive," said the instructor. "Isn't it?" queried the unfortunate Jenkins. "Why, I thought I had swallowed the whole pool!"

Gimbels' Greatest Sale

ELEVENTH BIRTHDAY

Begins Next MONDAY

This is the Gimbel Store. Reached directly, under cover, by Broadway Subway, Seventh Avenue Subway, Hudson Tubes, Pennsylvania Station, Long Island Train, Sixth Avenue Elevated.

¶ So that all may know of the tremendous merchandising movement to begin next Monday at the Gimbel Store, this advance notice is put forth.

¶ It is the culmination of thirty weeks of intense effort on the part of an organization famous for its supremacy in the distribution of vast lots of goods.

¶ Purchases aggregating millions of dollars are involved. ¶ Nothing so vast has been attempted here before though ten great Birthday Sales have preceded this one. ¶ Every need of the individual, every requirement of the home has been provided for in our merchandising plan. ¶ Quality has been the standard of our purchases. And the prices at which all merchandise will be offered are so low as to be entirely out of proportion to the worth of the goods. ¶ Our organization is keyed up to an enthusiasm hitherto unapproached. ¶ The display and demonstration of merchandise in the store will be unusually attractive and the arrangement of the new stocks with the new scheme of decoration will be a revelation to both old and new friends. ¶ The message of the sale is being spread to the far points of the shopping territories of New York.

¶ Sunday we shall list some of the offerings. ¶ They will demonstrate that nothing should interfere with your attendance on the opening days of the sale. ¶ Throughout October, the Birthday Month, come to this store at every opportunity. The daily offerings will be sensational.

We Wish to Record at this Time a Word of the Important Accomplishments of the Current Year.

It is a well known fact that Gimbels has been a tremendous factor in the establishment of the new and lower price levels prevailing in New York today. And it is equally well known in the mercantile world that Gimbels is one of the few stores that has succeeded in keeping its sales volume well ahead of any previous year. Nor has this aggressiveness produced benefits to the community only in lowered prices for, due to it, the employment of thousands has been assured—a larger organization has been acquired—and no salaries have been reduced.

During the past year the entire store has been redecorated, refurbished and renovated. The street floor has been entirely remodeled. A marble floor has been laid. Sections have been re-arranged. Spacious aisles have been made. New service features have been installed—everything is like new. Upwards of a half million dollars has been spent in improvements—all for the betterment of our daily service to our customers.

Since the last Birthday Sale, Gimbels has acquired and disposed of the retail stocks of two great old commercial institutions. New York will well remember the sale of the stocks of that fine old china and glass store of Higgins & Selzer on 87th Street and the sale of the stocks of America's most famous Oriental store—Vantine's of Fifth Avenue. It is interesting to note in this connection that insofar as possible Gimbels has duplicated the stocks of these two old stores and maintains now for the benefit of these two old stores' customers comparable to those which were carried by Higgins & Selzer and Vantine's.

With a full realization of which accomplishments, the store puts forth as a celebration for the Eleventh Birthday of its coming to New York

WILLIAM WOOD THRUSH.

"It seems strange to many people," said William Wood Thrush, "when they hear our song and when they hear us talk to each other. You know we sound just as though we were saying:

"Quit, quit," and when a person talks another person to quit anything it means they want them to stop it. It is a slang expression and slang, I believe, is a way people have who are not very funny about their talking or about the words they use.

"But when we say 'quit' we do not mean to tell each other to stop, but we mean to tell each other to keep on. Yes, that is what we mean, so you can see that the birds aren't really using slang at all, and especially the wood thrushes aren't using slang.

"My name is really Wood Thrush. That is my family name. I call myself William Wood Thrush because I think it sounds rather fine.

"It looks very well, too, when I write my name."

"When do you write your name?" asked Master Wood Thrush.

"Oh, often," said William Wood Thrush, "when I want to leave a note about the marketing."

"Yes, I'm going out and want to leave word to tell the Insect Man and the Fly Man to stop. I write a note on the bark of the tree and I write something like this:

"Dear Mr. Insect Man, please leave several dozen insects this morning. Yours truly, William Wood Thrush."

"And then, when I write to the Fly Man, I usually write:

"Dear Mr. Fly Man, kindly leave me some of your choicest small flies as I'm having a dinner party this evening and I want the choicest of small flies. Thanking you in advance, I remain, very truly yours, William Wood Thrush."

"Well," said Master Wood Thrush, "do they leave these things for you?"

"If they get caught they do," said William Wood Thrush.

"What do you mean when you say that you thank them in advance?" asked Master Wood Thrush.

"I mean that I thank them before they do anything like that because then I hope they will do it. It rather cheers them up to be thanked ahead of time like that."

"And why do you say that you remain very truly theirs?" asked Master Wood Thrush.

"Because," said William Wood Thrush, "I like to follow the usual correct forms of writing."

"To be sure I will never be theirs, but they will be mine, I hope. Still, it is the correct way of ending off a note. I might, of course, end it off by saying 'Affectionately yours,' but then that wouldn't be right, for I'm not affectionately theirs."

"I feel an affection for them because I enjoy eating them, but they don't feel an affection for me, to be sure."

"I like to have my nest near the ground. It's a fine nest of mud and leaves and grass. And when the little blue-green eggs hatch out they are soon like us. They wear brownish suits with just a shade of reddish brown about them and they soon wear handsome white waistcoats with smart black spots."

"Oh, yes, we don't call out 'quit' to each other when we are singing, but rather, we urge each other to keep on singing. We love to sing and we are quite famous for our song."

"Most of the great Thrush family care about singing every bit as much, if not more, than folk care to have us sing."

"Our cousins, the Veery family or Wilson Thrush family, look something like us, but they don't wear so many spots on their waistcoats and our suits are a little darker. They are very fond of worms."

"There are more members to that family than to ours, and they are not quite such famous singers. They build their nests right on the ground instead of a little above the ground as we do."

"But let us sing for we are being asked to sing by some of our Wood Thrush cousins in the other trees."

"And so they sing their lovely, clear song."

"Let Us Sing."

MUTTON WITH SAUCES.

Mutton would be far more popular in many homes if care in removing the skin were observed. The woolly flavor so objectionable is found in the skin. If the animal has been well dressed there should be no strong flavor.

There are two ways of cooking mutton. For those who are fond of the mutton flavor it is cooked to bring out the natural flavor; the other way unless it is highly flavored vegetables or seasonings which produce a combination of flavors.

One of the important things to remember in serving mutton and lamb is the gravy containing any of the fat is to have it piping hot, as the fat solidifies so quickly that it leaves an unpleasant furry feeling on the tongue. Everything used in the serving of mutton—service plates, platters and gravy shoes, should be well heated.

Roast Saddle of Mutton.—A saddle of mutton is the loin cut off, in one piece. It is a favorite roasting piece, sprinkle the meat with salt and pepper, place in the baking pan on a rack and dredge with flour. Bake in a hot oven, basting frequently and allow ten or fifteen minutes to the pound, depending upon whether it is to be rare or well done. The leg of mutton is cooked in the same way. Serve with brown gravy with or without currant jelly. In making the gravy allow two tablespoons of fat for each cup of liquid desired. Pour off all the fat and measure the desired amount, add three tablespoons of flour for each two of fat and cook until well browned. Add broth or boiling water—one cupful to the proportions of flour and fat given. Season with salt and pepper and add one-half cup of currant jelly to a cupful of gravy. This makes a delicious sauce or reheated cold mutton.

Caper Sauce.—Melt one-third of a cupful of butter, add two tablespoons of flour and cook thoroughly. Pour on gradually one and one-half cupfuls of hot mutton broth, add one-half cupful of capers drained from their liquor and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Chopped sour pickles may be substituted for the capers. This sauce is served with boiled mutton.

"Millions Now Living Will Never Die"

Judge Rutherford

"MILLIONS NOW LIVING WILL NEVER DIE!"

In less than a year this proclamation has found its way into thirty languages and the message is being heralded to millions of people in thousands of cities in every land of the earth. "MILLIONS NOW LIVING WILL NEVER DIE!" "Who ever heard of such a thing? Preposterous," you will say. So said the scoffers to Noah: they had never seen rain—but the flood came on time. "MILLIONS NOW LIVING WILL NEVER DIE," but will enjoy unending human life on the earth and ascend a highway of righteousness to full perfection of body, of mind, of character, in company with their loved ones returned from the grave. When the kingdom of God is fully established, mankind will have no more fear of sickness or accident, old age or death; no more dread of loss of home, or loved ones, or livelihood; no more sorrow or tears.

"MILLIONS NOW LIVING WILL NEVER DIE!"

You may be one of them. Go! Hear the proof of these marvelous tidings. Testimony upon testimony, evidence upon evidence. Biblical, historical, scientific—appealing to your reason as well as to your heart—will be presented without cost in the lecture by

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Wilson

THE HEROIC DEED OF "OLD MAN" RICHARDS

One of the hottest Indian fights in frontier history was the battle of Adobe Walls in the Texas Panhandle in 1874. The Adobe Walls consisted of several huts, and two or three stables surrounded by a stockade, and it was headquarters for a party of hunters who killed buffaloes.

The Indians saw with dismay the destruction caused by the white men. They resolved to destroy the Adobe Walls and kill the hunters before they had wiped out the vast herds of bison. Early on the morning of June 27 a war party of Comanches, Kiowas and Cheyennes, under the leadership of Chief Quannah of the Comanches, swept down upon the Adobe Walls. The buffalo hunters were awake, however, and as the Indians charged the white men with their heavy Sharps buffalo guns poured a deadly fire into their midst. The Indians attacked again and again, but each time they were beaten back with heavy loss. Nor did the hunters escape unharmed.

Three of them were killed in the first attack, and in one of the stores a young man named Thurston was shot through the lungs. Presently his cry of "Water! Water!" was heard above the din of fighting.

The nearest water was 50 yards away, where a pump stood in the unprotected open. In this same store was an old scout called "Old Man" Richards. He heard young Thurston's cry.

"I reckon now," said "Old Man" Richards, "I'll go fetch a bucketful." He took a bucket and tossed it through the window. A frightened dog that had been hiding near by followed him, whining. Indian bullets cut up the ground all about them. The pump was slow. It took two minutes to get the water started from the gun-cracked spout. The pump was struck a dozen times as Richards worked the handle.

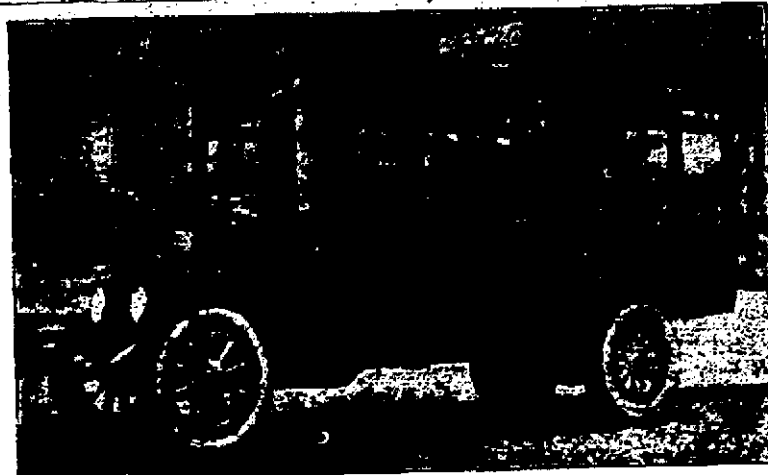

He pumped on without raising his head. The dog was shot down at his feet. A bullet tore his hat from his head. Still he pumped on. At last the bucket was filled. He picked up his hat, placed it on his head, took up the bucket and brought it back to the store without spilling a drop.

There was not a scratch on him. "It's sure some hot out there in the sun," said "Old Man" Richards as he gave the dying Thurston a drink.

Picking up his rifle, he took his post at a window again without indicating by word or act that he knew he had just come out of the jaws of death.

THERE WAS AN OLD WOMAN WHO LIVED IN A SHOE

And, as the old story goes, "she had so many children she didn't know what to do."

There are parents today who live in houses little better than the shoe of the old nursery story, because there is no provision made for regular and sanitary bathing for the children.

Result: Insufficient bathing for the "kiddies" with consequent bad results to their health.

For their sake alone, you should install complete, sanitary bathing facilities in your home.

"Most of the great Thrush family are singing every bit as much, if not more, than folks care to have us sing."

"Our cousins, the Veery family or Wilson Thrush family, look something like us, but they don't wear so many spots on their waistcoats and our suits are a little darker. They are very fond of swamps."

"There are more members to that family than to ours, and they are not quite such famous songsters. They build their nests right on the ground instead of a little above the ground as we do."

"But let us sing, for we are being asked to sing by some of our Wood Thrush cousins in the other trees." And so they sang their lovely, clear songs.

MUTTON WITH SAUCES.

Mutton would be far more popular in many homes if care in removing the skin were observed. The woolly flavor so objectionable is found in the skin. If the animal has been well dressed there should be no strong flavor.

There are two ways of cooking mutton. For those who are fond of the mutton flavor it is cooked to bring out the natural flavor; the other way is to use highly flavored vegetables or seasonings which produce a combination flavor.

One of the important things to remember in serving mutton and lamb is to have it piping hot, as the fat renders so quickly that it leaves an unpleasant fatty feeling on the tongue. Everything used in the serving of mutton—service plates, platters and gravy dishes—should be well heated.

Roast Saddle of Mutton.—A saddle of mutton is the loin cut off in one piece. It is a favorite roasting piece.

Trim the meat with salt and pepper, place in the baking pan on a rack, and dredge with flour. Bake in a hot oven, basting frequently and allow ten or fifteen minutes to the pound, depending upon whether it is to be rare or well done. The leg of mutton is roasted in the same way. Serve with a brown gravy with or without currant jelly. In making the gravy allow two tablespoons of fat for each cupful of gravy desired. Pour off all the fat and measure the desired amount, add three tablespoonfuls of flour for each two of fat and cook until well browned. Add broth or boiling water—one cupful to the proportions of flour and fat given. Season with salt and pepper and add one half cupful of currant jelly to a cupful of gravy. This makes a delicious sauce or reheated cold mutton.

Caper Sauce.—Melt one-third of a cupful of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and cook thoroughly. Pour on gradually one and one-half cupfuls of hot mutton broth, add one-half cupful of capers drained from their liquor and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Chopped sour pickles may be substituted for the capers. This sauce is served with boiled mutton.

"Millions Now Living Will Never Die"

Judge Rutherford

"MILLIONS NOW LIVING WILL NEVER DIE!"

In less than a year this proclamation has found its way into thirty languages and the message is being heralded to millions of people in thousands of cities in every land of the earth. "MILLIONS NOW LIVING WILL NEVER DIE!" "Who ever heard of such a thing? Preposterous," you will say. So said the scoffers to Noah; they had never seen rain—but the flood came on time. "MILLIONS NOW LIVING WILL NEVER DIE," but will enjoy unending human life on the earth and ascend a highway of righteousness to full perfection of body, of mind, of character, in company with their loved ones returned from the grave. When the kingdom of God is fully established, mankind will have no more fear of sickness or accident, old age or death; no more dread of loss of home, or loved ones, or livelihood; no more sorrow or tears.

"MILLIONS NOW LIVING WILL NEVER DIE!"

You may be one of them. Go! Hear the proof of these marvelous tidings. Testimony upon testimony, evidence upon evidence. Biblical, historical, scientific—appealing to your reason as well as to your heart—will be presented without cost in the lecture by

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Plummer

THE HEROIC DEED OF "OLD MAN" RICHARDS

Q. Western Newspaper Union.

One of the hottest Indian fights in frontier history was the Battle of Adobe Walls in the Texas Panhandle in 1874. The Adobe Walls consisted of several huts, and two or three stores surrounded by a stockade, and it was headquarters for a party of hunters who killed buffaloes.

The Indians saw with dismay the destruction caused by the white men. They resolved to destroy the Adobe Walls and kill the hunters before they had wiped out the vast herds of bison.

Early on the morning of June 27, a war party of Comanches, Kiowas and Cheyennes, under the leadership of Chief Quannah of the Comanches, swept down upon the Adobe Walls. The buffalo hunters were awake, however, and as the Indians charged the white men with their heavy Sharps buffalo guns poured a deadly fire into their midst. The Indians attacked again and again, but each time they were beaten back with heavy loss. Nor did the hunters escape unharmed.

Three of them were killed in the first attack, and in one of the stores a young man named Thurston was shot through the lungs. Presently his cry of "Water! Water!" was heard above the din of fighting.

The nearest water was 50 yards away, where a pump stood in the unprotected open. In this same store was an old scout called "Old Man" Richards. He heard young Thurston's cry.

"I reckon now," said "Old Man" Richards, "I'll go fetch a bucketful."

He took a bucket and tossed it through the window. A frightened dog that had been hiding near by followed him, whining. Indian bullets cut up the ground all about them. The pump was slow. It took two minutes to get the water started from the sun-cracked spout. The pump was struck a dozen times as Richards worked the handle.

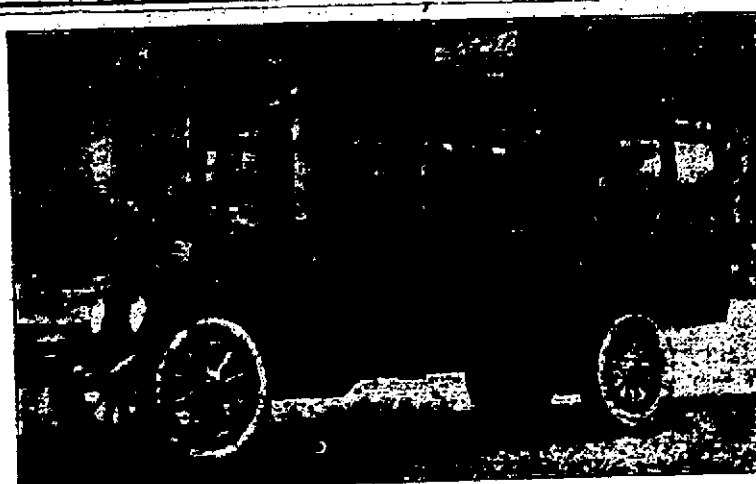

He pumped on without raising his head. The dog was shot down at his feet. A bullet tore his hat from his head. Still he pumped on. At last the bucket was filled. He picked up his hat, placed it on his head, took up the bucket and brought it back to the store without spilling a drop.

There was not a scratch on him. "It's sure some hot out there in the sun," said "Old Man" Richards as he gave the dying Thurston a drink.

Picking up his rifle, he took his post at a window again without indicating by word or act that he knew he had just come out of the jaws of death.

McEnelly's Orchestra Now Travels This Way.

The McEnelly Singing Orchestra, so well and favorably known to dancers in Kingston, has banished railroads and their troublesome schedules from their mind and now journeys from place to place in the vehicle pictured above. This famous outfit will be here for the first time this season Wednesday, October 5, when they begin their winter dances at the state armory.

THERE WAS AN OLD WOMAN WHO LIVED IN A SHOE

And, as the old story goes, "she had so many children she didn't know what to do."

There are parents today who live in houses little better than the shoe of the old nursery story, because there is no provision made for regular and sanitary bathing for the children.

Result: Insufficient bathing for the "kiddies" with consequent bad results to their health.

For their sake alone, you should install complete, sanitary bathing facilities in your home.

We can supply your every need at a reasonable price for the right kind of equipment and workmanship.

POLICE ENFORCE PARKING LAW

Arrest 17 on Friday Evening on Wall Street for Violation of Parking Ordinance Restricting Parking of Cars to One Hour—Judge Schirck Issues Warnings.

Some time ago in order to avoid a congestion of traffic on Wall street, probably the busiest street in the city, the board of public works at the request of the merchants adopted a parking ordinance which restricted the parking of cars on that street to a period of one hour. There have been several arrests made for a violation of the ordinance since it went into effect, but it did not seem to deter others from violating the ordinance.

As a result Friday evening Police-men Fatum, Hess and Kuehn and Special Officer DeGraff rounded up seventeen automobilists who had violated the ordinance. Of that number the great majority had parked their cars in the restricted area while they were attending the evening performance in Keeney's Theatre.

Fifteen of the violators appeared in police court before Judge Schirck this morning, and fourteen of them pleaded guilty. William Schwab one of the fifteen arraigned today, pleaded not guilty, and the hearing was adjourned until Monday afternoon. Two others who had also pleaded not guilty asked permission to change their plea to guilty.

Judge Schirck after receiving the pleas of guilty stated that there had been no question but that the ordinance had been violated, and that it had been violated since it went into effect. The police had issued warnings in the past that it must be complied with. As this was the first time any of those arraigned before him had been arrested for a violation of that ordinance he would discharge them with a warning to be more careful in the future.

Those who pleaded guilty today and were discharged were: L. A. Abrahams, 108 Hone street; Miss May Pessenar, Mrs. Fanny Montgomery, 77 Foxhall avenue; Everett S. Polley, 167 Fair street; F. J. Peterson, 110 Henry street; Jacob Avnet, 109 Hone street; Myron Silkworth, 219 Clifton avenue; Dr. Harry R. Meinhardt, 302 Wall street; Jacob Meyers, Henry street; Dr. John F. Larkin, Broadway; Ignatius A. Snyder, Delaware avenue; Joseph W. Mole, Van Nest; Louis Chovris, Saugerties.

Others arrested whose cases come up Monday were: Sam Stone, 22 Broadway; George Duncan, 84 Downs street, and Charles Van Etten, 9 Wynkoop Place.

The police department are determined that the ordinance must be obeyed in the future, and that as the reason for the rounding up of so many automobilists Friday evening. In order to avoid arrest every automobilist would do well to remember that there is such an ordinance, and not to park their cars on streets where parking is restricted or entirely prohibited.

Printing Strikes Called Off.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 1.—At a meeting of the Book Binders' Union last night, it was voted to call off the strike for a 44 hour week, in progress here since May 1, and return to work under old conditions. Practically all 400 printing plants here are working under open shop conditions, except the plants owned by newspaper publishing companies, which have been closed completely since the strike was inaugurated. Recently the printer pressmen voted to call off their strike for a 44 hour week and return under old conditions.

WOMEN DEMAND ANOTHER TEACHER

The following teachers have received the teacher's Palmer certificate which is evidence of the teacher's ability to instruct students in the Palmer Method in any public school.

School No. 5—Hester E. Marsh, Ella F. Hession, Clara Ostrander, Florence Mulhern.

School No. 6—Marguerite Fitzgerald.

School No. 7—Florence E. Gorse, Christine M. Spader.

I have visited most of the classrooms in each of the schools during the month and am pleased to report that the teachers and pupils are doing their work in the usual satisfactory manner.

Under the direction of the teachers' committee the night school was opened on the 19th day of September, with Principal Cullen acting as principal of the night school. The total registration at the present time is 63 distributed as follows:

Mechanical drawing taught by Mr. Herman 14 Arithmetic taught by Principal Meagher 14 Elementary English 11 Reading 4 Advanced English 11 Citizenship taught by Principal Cullen 7 Spelling taught by all teachers 46 Writing, taught by Mr. Woodard, 19 Bookkeeping, taught by Mr. Woodard 9

Americanization of aliens, taught by Miss Van Wagenen 15 Principals Cullen and Meagher and Miss Van Wagenen also teach English classes.

The night school is in session from 7:30 to 9:30 on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of each week and under the law must be kept in session in third class cities for at least 80 nights during the school year. Starting as we have two weeks earlier than usual will enable us to close the night school at the beginning of the Easter vacation.

Library Wants a Walk.

The trustees of the Kingston City Library also sent in a communication asking that the board cooperate in building a walk from the library to connect with the high school walk for the use of the pupils at the high school. This would be of great benefit to the pupils who are often required to go from the high school to the library during school hours to look up information. As the walk is but 60 feet long and the library would meet half the cost the board referred the matter to the building committee with power. The walk to be built as an accommodation to the high school pupils and not as a public walk.

Trustee Van Wagenen of the finance committee offered vouchers amounting to $12,367.85 and the same roll for September amounted to $13,763.58. Ordered paid.

Trustee Kearney of the building committee reported that the roof of the high school, which has had no attention since it was laid, would be painted before cold weather.

The teachers' committee reported the employment of Carl W. Herman as instructor of manual training and as assistant teacher of science. Mr. Herman is a university graduate and able to assist in the science department as well as instruct in the machine shop.

The board re-appointed Mr. Fessenden and Mr. Junquist members of the advisory board, their terms having expired.

Trustees Kearney, Herbert and Crane were appointed visiting committee for October.

Tuition for out of town pupils attending the high school was placed at $90 per year and in the grammar schools at $45. Tuition at the high school must be paid by pupils who attend from out of town places where there is a high school.

Superintendent Michael was granted two days leave of absence. The board then adjourned.

Property Transfers Increase.

There were 370 deeds and conveyances filed for record with the Ulster county clerk during the 21 working days of September again 400 filed during September, 1920. In September, 280 mortgages were filed against 276 last September.

Shin Bone Broken.

Richard Bloomer of Shultis Corners, Saugerties, a student at the Saugerties high school, had the shin bone in his right leg broken while playing basketball at the school Thursday. Dr. James Krom was called to set the broken bone.

New York, Oct. 1.—Another sharp advance in Lehigh Valley featured the opening of the stock market today. That issue rose 2 points to 59, a new high record for the year. The advance was accompanied by reports that the company's coal segregation plan will be announced shortly. The rest of the list shows small gains with trading on a small scale. Steel Common rose ¼ to 73½ and Baldwin rose nearly one point to 87½. Mexican Petroleum after selling off to 98½ rose to 99½. The coppers improved fractionally. Texas Pacific coal and oil developed strength advancing nearly one point to 21½.

The market closed strong. The overall condition of the market became more pronounced in the late dealings. Many of the leading issues sold at new high levels for the day in the last few minutes. U. S. Steel got up to 80½ and Baldwin Local motive 87½. Texas Pacific coal and oil continued in demand selling up to 23½, a gain of three points. Mexican Petroleum rallied over 2 points to 100½. The railroad stocks improved fractionally. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong.

LONGSHOREMEN OUT ON STRIKE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 1.—Details of police were stationed along the waterfront in Hoboken today, to maintain order in a longshoremen's strike called this morning.

According to the police, 4,000 longshoremen walked out under orders from New York's headquarters. It is believed the strike is general for New York harbor and Staten Island.

Brooklyn longshoremen did not walk out and officials of the Brooklyn local declared that no strike had been called for or authorized by the association.

According to the Brooklyn officials the Hoboken walkout is a protest against the agreement between the ship owners and the International Longshoremen's association, whereby after October 1 the overtime scale for Saturday afternoon work was to be abolished.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Sanford Still, aged 62 years, died through an operation at Kingston City Hospital Thursday, September 29. Funeral was held this morning at 10 o'clock. Interment in Comfort cemetery.

Louis, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wiedemann, died at the family home, No. 165 North street, Thursday evening. The funeral was held this afternoon with interment in Montrose cemetery.

John, Fryckard, a boarder at Fischer's Hotel on the Strand for the past six months, died Thursday evening after an illness of six weeks, aged about 50 years. He was employed in the Cornell shops. The body will be taken to West Hoboken for funeral and interment.

Coley King, who was well-known in this city, having resided here for over a year while constructing for New York city the diverting sewer from North Front street through Washington avenue to Wilbur, died at Corona, L. I., Friday, where he resided. He was a member of the King, Rice & Grady Co., contractors.

Mrs. Emma J. Peck of New Milford, Conn., died very suddenly September 19, at the home of her son, Clark Peck, of Brookfield, Conn. Mrs. Peck was a daughter of the late Ephraim Morgan of Saugerties and a half sister of William G. Morgan of Saugerties. She was in the 84th year of her age. Funeral was held at her son's home on Wednesday, September 21.

Edward Lamb, son of Margaret and the late Edward Lamb, died Friday, September 30, at his home on Morgan Hill town of Hurley. He is survived by his wife and six children, his mother and one brother, Thomas. The funeral services will be held at the late residence Monday morning at 9 o'clock, thence to St. John's Church, Stone Hollow, where a solemn Mass of requiem will be celebrated for the repose of his soul. Interment in St. Mary's Cemetery, Kingston.

The funeral of Mrs. Edward J. Boles, who died at Brooklyn Wednesday, September 28, was held this morning from the home of her sister, Mrs. Julia Murphy, of No. 26 First avenue, at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 o'clock from St. Mary's Church, where a solemn Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. John J. Hickey, V. F., with the Rev. Joseph Mannix as sub-deacon. The funeral was largely attended and the floral tributes were many. The bearers were brothers and cousins of the deceased. Dean Hickey accompanied the remains to St. Mary's Cemetery, where the interment was in the family plot.

Mrs. Arvilla Eltinge, widow of Lamont Eltinge, of No. 111 Down street, died on Friday after a long illness. She had been a resident of this city for a number of years and was held in high esteem by all who knew her. She was deeply interested in church work and the W. C. T. U., and was active in many charitable movements. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Eltinge Longear of Eddyville, and one brother, Frank Lake of Durango, Colorado, and two sons, Orville of Chicago, and Colonel Leroy Eltinge who at present is stationed at Manila. The funeral will be held from the late residence Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Interment in Willowick cemetery.

Miss Katherine J. Crowley, who was well known in this city, died Thursday morning at her home at Delhi, Delaware county, after a long and painful illness. She was born at Quincy, Ill., and after having qualified as a Chautauque nurse successfully engaged in nursing at Delhi and elsewhere for a number of years. She was a woman of many fine traits of character, devoted to her duty and loyal to her friends. Last spring she underwent a serious surgical operation but it gave no permanent relief. During part of her residence in Kingston, Mrs. Crowley cared for Marie Antoinette Lockwood, granddaughter of Walter E. Mitchell of the Mitchell House. Miss Crowley is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Samuel Woodburn and Mrs. Curtis Butler of Canbair, N. Y., and Mrs. Frank Wells and Miss Anna Crowley, both of Delhi.

CAPT. VAN DOVER DROWNED MONDAY

Former Marlborough Man Is Cause Of A Double Tragedy At Wife's Apartments In New York City Thursday Afternoon.

After shooting and killing his wife, Marie, in her apartments at 327 Central Park West, New York, Thursday afternoon, George H. Brennan, 63 years old, formerly of Marlborough, once the owner of a racing stable, turned the revolver on himself and died instantly with a bullet through his right temple.

Brennan, who the police say has not been living with his wife, introduced himself at the apartment as "Dr. Albertson" and was admitted by Miss Mildred Gordon, a friend of Mrs. Brennan, who had been stopping with her. She showed Brennan into the living room and, calling Mrs. Brennan in from the kitchen, left the two together.

The New York police have been unable to find any motive for the double tragedy. A permit to carry a revolver, issued this spring at Marlborough, was found in Brennan's coat pocket, but there was no letter or paper that would explain his action.

Brennan once had been known on the turf and was supposed to have amassed a fortune betting. A few years ago he opened a saloon in Greenwich Village, New York city, but of late he had passed most of his time gambling on the stock market, where it is said, he recently lost heavily. Several years ago he was regarded as a professional gambler on trans-Atlantic liners where he made a point of playing with wealthy passengers. He was known as the "square gambler."

Mrs. Brennan, who had four sons and one daughter, had resided for three years with a married son, Frank Brennan, Mrs. Little, wife of Dr. Little, formerly a well known veterinarian in Newburgh is a daughter of the couple.

Brennan resided in Marlborough for a dozen years prior to 1914 and owned a residence on Orchard street. He was in Marlborough last June and undoubtedly obtained his permit to carry a revolver at that time. It was not generally known in Marlborough that he and Mrs. Brennan had separated.

Miss Anna Litcher, who underwent a serious operation at the Kingston City Hospital, is doing nicely under the care of Dr. Chandler.

Boris and Donald Schryver of 160 Albany avenue were operated on for their adenoids and tonsils this morning at the Kingston City Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barrow and daughter, Eleanor, who with Mrs. Barrow's mother, Mrs. J. Richards of Haverhill, N. J., have been visiting John Richards on Clinton avenue, have returned to their home.

Emmett Carson, night clerk of the Eagle Hotel, who was to leave some time ago for Rochester, will leave Sunday morning. Mr. Carson was delayed on account of business. His many friends wish him the best of luck.

COLONIALS IN BIG GAME SUNDAY

Desmond Park, Newburgh, will doubtless be crowded to capacity when the Colonials meet the Independents in the fourth game of the series Sunday afternoon. The largest crowd to attend a game in Newburgh this season saw the Colonials defeat the Newburghers two weeks ago, and as the Kingston team is the best drawing card in the vicinity, another banner crowd is expected.

The Colonials will not be lacking rooters, for hundreds of fans will be on hand to cheer their favorites to victory. The excursion boat Sea Gate, from present indications, will take down almost six hundred persons, and a large number of others will make the trip by auto.

Tomorrow's game will be the fourth between the two teams, the Colonials having won two and the Independents one. The Newburgh team will be considerably strengthened for Sunday's game several new players having been acquired by the Hilly City management.

TIME YOU HAD NEW GLASSES

If you have been wearing the old ones more than two or three years, remember your eyes get older while the glasses do not change. Time and age have a look at your eyes
now. It's best to be on the safe side when such delicate organs as the eyes are concerned.

Krom.

Colored Diamonds Rare.
Green diamonds are found, and with are of crimson, but there are rare black diamonds are common enough, but black pearls are rare. Black pearls are greatly prized. One of the finest in existence was found in a fresh water mussel in the Mississippi river, and is valued at $15,000. On the Pearl Island, south of Panama, pearls are found which are red gray.
